Things I Learn on my Morning Commute

5

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1ST, 2011 | No Responses...Yet

I've learned so much from my morning commutes into Manhattan. For instance, I know which doctor has a plastic surgery plan for any budget, how many drinks ago I would have walked away from a fight, and something about the Knicks through the years...

Developing a Sensible Folder Structure

<article>

MONDAY, APRIL 5TH, 2010 | 4 Responses

The folder structure of a designer or developer can quickly become unwieldy. Past concepts, invoicing and client communications, research and project updates really increase your file count rapidly. This article outlines my newest plan in the battle to end file-searching frustration, and maintain some type of convention for
